

ARE YOU CONSIDERING AN ACADEMIC CAREER?

Think About...

LONDON STUDY ABROAD: DIGITAL SCHOLARLY COMMUNICATION

Program Information:

Course: INSC 590:
Problems in Information
Sciences: Digital Scholarly Communication

Credit Hours: 3 hrs

Cost estimate: $6,100
+ Tuition
Includes program fee,
study abroad fee,
accommodations, &
estimated airfare, meals,
transportation.

Application
Deadline:
February 1, 2017

Apply online @
<http://studyabroad.utk.edu>

TO UNDERSTAND THE EXPECTATIONS OF PUBLISHING YOUR RESEARCH IN HIGH QUALITY PEER-REVIEWED JOURNALS AND BOOKS AND THE CONTINUED USE OF A WIDE VARIETY OF SCHOLARLY MATERIALS

This UTK faculty-run, two-week course in London, June 4-17, 2017, will introduce students to the international scholarly e-publishing industry and explore the publisher's role in digital scholarly communication including research outputs and publisher-library relations.

London, a major digital publishing center, will provide insight across the full range of information contexts and environments.

Open to ALL Current Graduate Students & Seniors Eligible for Graduate Credit

For more information:

Dr. Carol Tenopir, Chancellor's Professor, School of Information Sciences
(ctenopir@utk.edu)

or Amy Forrester, CCI
Research Associate
(aforres4@utk.edu)

Information Sessions in Scripps Lab:

Wednesday, November 16 @ 5:00p-6:00p

Monday, December 5 @ 12:00p-1:00p

or pop-in via Zoom (<https://tennessee.zoom.us/join> and enter class session/meeting ID: 760 175)